

A Walk in London

Salvatore Rubbino

Candlewick Press (March 2011)

Hardcover $16.99 (32pp)

978-0-7636-5272-2

A mother-daughter journey through one of the world's great walking cities is narrated by the younger traveler, who takes in history—the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace, Admiral Nelson's statue in Trafalgar Square—and lesser facts with equal delight: "London is Europe's third rainiest city; a telephone booth is a good place to wait out a shower." The team pauses for fish and chips and whispers to each other across the expanse of St. Paul's Cathedral, where acoustics are miraculous. This classically beautiful picture book contains a gatefold illustration of life along the Thames and provides the ideal appetizer for young armchair travelers. Ages five to seven.

(May / June 2011)

Disclosure: This article is not an endorsement, but a review. The publisher of this book provided free copies of the book to have their book reviewed by a professional reviewer. No fee was paid by the publisher for this review. Foreword Reviews only recommends books that we love. Foreword Magazine, Inc. is disclosing this in accordance with the Federal Trade Commission's 16 CFR, Part 255.