Ever wonder how many grains of sand fit inside of a bucket, or how many ears of corn it takes to pop a bag of popcorn? Inquiring minds will love this life-sized exploration of the amazing contrasts found in nature and in everyday life, and will find that perspective makes what's ordinary seem extraordinary. Bright color photographs of creatures and creations are featured against crisp white backdrops, resulting in a potpourri of appealing, playful comparisons, with the facts and stats to match.
