A beautiful blend of dazzling artwork and scientific facts helps to unpack over half a dozen case studies of nature's most stunning displays. Travel with an explorer and her canine companion from Mercantour National Park in France, where meteor showers light up the sky, to the Calbuco Volcano in Chile, where charged particles form lightning overhead. The book's glowworm caves, super blood moons, and double rainbows are inspiring and awe-inducing, while its inset diagrams and trivia provide a plethora of fascinating details.
