

How Do You Read to a Rabbit?

Andrea Wayne von Königslöw

Annick Press (February 2010)

Hardcover $19.95 (32pp)

978-1-55451-232-4

Well, why don't we read books to owls, anyway? "Because they'll keep asking...whooo?????" A boa constrictor might want to hug you good night, and a hippopotamus might want to sit on your lap. These funny examples will entertain and educate, and lead logically to the heart-warming conclusion: the best people to read to are your mom and dad, and "it will be the best story that they've ever heard." Königslöw's spare text is funny and direct, and set off by her whimsical illustrations. It's easy to imagine a pre-schooler getting inspired to create his or her own jokes about reading to animals. For ages two to five.

TERESA SCOLLON (May / June 2010)

Disclosure: This article is not an endorsement, but a review. The publisher of this book provided free copies of the book to have their book reviewed by a professional reviewer. No fee was paid by the publisher for this review. Foreword Reviews only recommends books that we love. Foreword Magazine, Inc. is disclosing this in accordance with the Federal Trade Commission's 16 CFR, Part 255.