Bubbling with the joy of discovery, this sweet board book features flip-the-flap surprises across the course of a child's visit to the zoo. An elephant's expression turns sour when he realizes that the child has no treats for him; a baby giraffe hides behind its mother. Some of the flaps add action to the story, as when a rhinoceros jumps into its pool, causing a big splash, and when one of the child's snacks is followed up with another. In addition to fostering a love of animal conservation, the book aims to support the zoo with a portion of its proceeds.
