In this primer on the impact of plastic waste in our oceans, a young boy turns from rescuee to rescuer when his new friend is in peril. The boy's small red boat is no match for the roaring, watercolor sea. After a whale, Blue, comes to his rescue, the boy visits Blue every day. One day, Blue is nowhere to be found; the boy goes in search of him, culminating in a lesson on taking care of the ocean and its creatures.
