

Into the Unknown: How Great Explorers Found their Way by Land, Sea, and Air

Steward Ross

Stephen Biesty, Illustrator

Candlewick Press (April 2011)

Hardcover $19.99 (96pp)

978-0-7636-4948-7

Marco Polo's 5,000-mile Silk Route expedition to China in the thirteenth century; Umberto Nobile's 1928 airship flight over the North Pole (and subsequent crash); Tenzing Norgay and Edmund Hillary scaling Mount Everest in 1953: what could be more exciting for youngsters than reading about these actual adventures? Viewing detailed drawings of their equipment and supplies, complete with encyclopedic explanations of the mechanics of such feats on extra unfolding pages. Candlewick Press has a knack for embellishing its books, and pulls out all the stops with this comprehensive offering. Ages nine to twelve.

(July / August 2011)

Disclosure: This article is not an endorsement, but a review. The publisher of this book provided free copies of the book to have their book reviewed by a professional reviewer. No fee was paid by the publisher for this review. Foreword Reviews only recommends books that we love. Foreword Magazine, Inc. is disclosing this in accordance with the Federal Trade Commission's 16 CFR, Part 255.