When bulldozers and loud construction threaten to tear down her idyllic seaside home and replace it with a highway, Lula finds an unlikely champion in the multi-tentacled resident of a nearby tidal pool. In this title that's big on imagination, environmental conservation, and sandwiches, a friendship blossoms and grows in the coastal waters, as does the fast-growing creature—lovably depicted in soft colors and with a sunny smile—who's soon as big as Lula's house.
