

Ned's New Home

Kevin Tseng

Tricycle Press (Aug 11, 2009)

$14.99 (32pp)

978-1-58246-297-4

Ned is a green worm who lives in an apple and loves the color red. So, what's the problem? Ned's apple is going bad; it's leaking; it's going to mush. He needs to find a new home. Ned packs a suitcase and heads out into the big world of real estate. He finds and tests a pear, a watermelon, blueberries, a lemon, and oh so many other fruity fiascos. Along the way, we learn about color, shape, size, and the names of fruits. Deliberately illustrated and written, this book shouldn't dilly-dally on its way to pre-K libraries and Head Start schools.

HEATHER SHAW (September / October 2009)

Disclosure: This article is not an endorsement, but a review. The publisher of this book provided free copies of the book to have their book reviewed by a professional reviewer. No fee was paid by the publisher for this review. Foreword Reviews only recommends books that we love. Foreword Magazine, Inc. is disclosing this in accordance with the Federal Trade Commission's 16 CFR, Part 255.