First in a collaborative new series from award-winning author Jane Yolen and the Cornell Lab of Ornithology, On Bird Hill reveals the wonder of a newly hatched baby chick emerging on a beautiful day in a nature-filled park and his sense of kinship with a wandering boy enjoying the sights early one morning. Short but sweet rhyming couplets describing the scenery and events are set amidst the imaginative drawings of illustrator Bob Marstall. Sure to inspire the bird-watcher in everyone, nature, conservation, and an appreciation of both are the key components of this feather-friendly venture.
