On the Move: Mass Migrations

978-1-60718-616-8

Fascinating and accessible: a mini science class between these covers reveals a world of mass annual migrations among diverse species. Readers follow the routines of salmon, caribou, polar bears, monarch butterflies, bats, and salamanders, among other animals. Easy to understand discussions of finding a mate, hunting for food, and seeking more appropriate weather will all provoke lively discussions. Realistic artwork with a softened appeal. Ages four to eight.
