

Someday is Now: Clara Luper and the 1958 Oklahoma City Sit-ins

Olugbemisola Rhuday-Perkovich

Jade Johnson, Illustrator

Seagrass Press (Aug 7, 2018)

Hardcover $17.95 (32pp)

978-1-63322-498-8

Celebrate justice, equality, and the power of peaceful protests while learning about the life of civil rights activist and spokesperson Clara Luper. A dedicated teacher, Luper was instrumental in the desegregation movement in Oklahoma City in the 1950s, organizing sit-ins for students at local diners and neighborhood stores. Inspirational quotes, photographs, and colorful illustrations demonstrate the timeless principles of nonviolent resistance and the importance of standing up—or sitting down—for what you believe in.

PALLAS GATES MCCORQUODALE (November/December 2018)

Disclosure: This article is not an endorsement, but a review. The publisher of this book provided free copies of the book to have their book reviewed by a professional reviewer. No fee was paid by the publisher for this review. Foreword Reviews only recommends books that we love. Foreword Magazine, Inc. is disclosing this in accordance with the Federal Trade Commission's 16 CFR, Part 255.