

What Can I Give Him?

Debi Gliori

Holiday House Publishing (September 1998)

$15.95 (32pp)

978-0-8234-1392-8

To be released just in time for the Christmas holiday, this beautiful children's book is based on a poem written by one of the great 19th century English poets, Christina Rossetti (1830-1894), under the original title of A Christmas Carol.

Gliori has created a truly heart-warming book that is sure to appeal to every member of the family, young and old alike. Along with the simple text, she adds extraordinary detailed illustrations. This story takes us into the lives of a modern-day girl, as well as a girl who witnesses the birth of Jesus, both characters wanting to give a gift to someone very special.

As the story unfolds, we as readers are gently reminded what this special holiday is really about. This book is sure to be a family favorite, as many hours will be spent simply browsing the delightful illustrations. Grandparents may find this to be especially endearing as herein lies the story of the special relationship of a grandparent.

LISA SALISBURY (July / August 1998)

Disclosure: This article is not an endorsement, but a review. The publisher of this book provided free copies of the book to have their book reviewed by a professional reviewer. No fee was paid by the publisher for this review. Foreword Reviews only recommends books that we love. Foreword Magazine, Inc. is disclosing this in accordance with the Federal Trade Commission's 16 CFR, Part 255.